What is Gender?

GENDER IDENTITY

A person's internal, deeply-felt sense of being a man, woman, in between, or another gender entirely.

GENDER EXPRESSION

An individual's characteristics and behaviors such as appearance, dress, mannerisms, speech patterns, and social interactions that are perceived as masculine or feminine. This may also fluctuate, but a visual change in gender presentation does not necessarily mean that the person's pronouns or identity have changed.

SEX ASSIGNED AT BIRTH (BIOLOGICAL SEX)

The anatomical classification of people as male, female, or intersex. This is usually assigned at birth. When talking about gender, you may see terms like Assigned Female at Birth (AFAB) or Assigned Male at Birth (AMAB).

Definitions

TRANSGENDER

An umbrella term that describes people whose gender identity and/or gender expression is different from their assigned gender at birth. Trans is used as an adjective, not a noun. Ex:

Trans Woman, Transgender Man.

CISGENDER

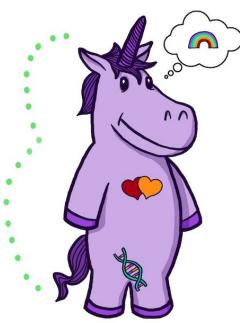

This is a term to describe someone who identifies with the gender they were assigned at birth.

NONBINARY

This is another umbrella term that describes people whose gender identity and/or gender expression is different from their assigned gender but does not fall under the traditional binary genders of Male or Female. Some terms that fit in this catagory include Genderqueer, Agender, Bigender, and Two Spirit. While some Nonbinary individuals identify with the term transgender, others do not.

Definitions

Gender Nonconforming (GNC): Gender nonconforming people have, or are perceived to have, gender characteristics and/or behaviors that do not conform to traditional or societal expectations.

Transition: The process of changing genders from one's assigned gender to one's gender identity. There are many different ways to transition. For some people, it is a complex process that takes place over a long period of time, while for others it is a one- or two-step process that happens more quickly. Transition may include "coming out": telling one's family, friends, and/or coworkers; changing one's name and/or sex on legal documents; or accessing gender affirming healthcare such as hormone therapy or surgery.

Misgendering: When one uses a pronoun, gendered word, or prefix for an individual that does not reflect their gender identity. While this is often accidental, it can cause lasting effects in an individual or workplace.

Gender Dysphoria: The feeling of discomfort or distress that might occur in people whose gender identity differs from their sex assigned at birth, either physically or socially.

Deadname: The name that a transgender person no longer uses (this can either be the name they were given at birth or a name that they were trying on that they no longer want to use).

A Brief History of Trans Identities

Gender Expansive Identities

- Gala: androgynous or trans priests of the Sumerian goddess Inanna from 5000 to 3000 B.C.
- Hijra: In South Asia, at least eight-known gender-expansive identities have historically been present in the subcontinent including Hijra.
- Māhū: In the pre-colonial history of Hawai'i, māhū were a third gender and often served as healers. This term has been reclaimed within the last decade.
- Kathoeys: In Thailand, people who were assigned male gender at birth and view themselves as either a third gender or as a second type of woman, rather than viewing themselves as wholly female in gender.

Two Spirit Identity

Two Spirit: Two Spirit is meant to be an umbrella term that points to the important roles that Two Spirit people held prior to colonization; however, as an umbrella term, specific teachings, roles, meanings, and language must come from the community. There are over 130 terms derived from Indigenous languages to describe people who did not fit into the western gender binary.

The contemporary term Two Spirit was first coined in 1990 at the 3rd annual Native American and Canadian Aboriginal LGBT people gathering in Winnipeg. In creating the term, the founding group wanted to reflect the historical acceptance of gender-variant peoples and diverse sexual identities within Indigenous communities in pre-contact times.

Western Trans History

There have always been transgender and gender variant people throughout history, but the Western idea of "transgender" (formerly refered to as transexual or transvestite) was popularized in the early 1900's by Dr. Magnus Hirschfeld.

Terms such as "transgender" and "gay" are strictly new constructs that assume three things: that there are only two sexes (male/female), two sexualities (gay/straight), and two genders (man/woman).

A Timeline of Western Trans Identity

- The Public Universal Friend reported being genderless, dressed androgynously, and asked the followers they gained while preaching throughout New England not to refer to them by their birth name or gendered pronouns.
- Mary Jones, a free African-American, was arrested in New York City for dressing as a woman, prostitution, And pickpocketing.
- William Dorsey Swann, the first recorded drag queen, organized a series of drag balls in Washington, D.C.
- 1919: Dr. Magnus Hirschfeld started the oldest Western institute studying LGBTQ identities in Germany.

 Institut für Sexualwissenschaft performed some of the earliest contemporary affirming medical services. It was destroyed in the rise of German fascism under the Nazi party.
- Christine Jorgensen undergoes surgery in Copenhagen and is outed by the American press. She causes an international sensation. For many, she is the first visible trans person in the media.

A Timeline of Western Trans Identity

- Reed Erickson launches the Erickson Educational Foundation (EEF), an organization that supports work being done in the 1960s and 1970s in the field of trans studies in the US.
- Marsha P. Johnson, Sylvia Rivera, and Stormé DeLarverie are among those who resist arrest in a routine bar raid on the Stonewall Inn in New York City's Greenwich Village.
- Pauli Murray, a Black gender nonconforming activist, helped Ruth Bader-Ginsberg write decisions about gender discrimination.
- Drag queen and trans woman Crystal LaBeija and friends started the House of LaBeija, the first modern ballroom house.
- 1980's Trans and queer communities are devastated by the AIDS epidemic, particularly trans women and queer men of color.
- 1990 Trans activist Lou Sullivan's writings and advocacy opened up dialogues about gay trans men during the AIDS epidemic.

A Timeline of Western Trans Identity

1999: Transgender Day of Remembrance was founded by transgender activist Gwendolyn Ann Smith to memorialize the murder of Rita Hester, a black transgender woman from Allston, Massachusetts.

2009: Transgender Day of Visibility was founded by transgender activist Rachel Crandall in 2009 as a reaction to the lack of LGBT holidays celebrating transgender people.

2014: Laverne Cox became the first openly transgender person to be nominated for an Emmy in an acting category and was on the cover of Time Magazine.

2018: Trans woman and drag queen Peppermint became the first trans woman to originate a principal role on Broadway in Head over Heels.

2020: Actor Elliot Page comes out as trans, marking the first time a major movie star has transitioned publicly.

2022: L. Morgan Lee becomes the first transgender woman to be nominated for a Tony Award for her role in A Strange Loop

Cost of Transition

Name Changes: between $150-450 - including drivers license, social security, birth certificate, and more.

Gender Affirming items: Binders, packers, tucking underwear, and more can range from $10-50

Hormones: Hormones and the related doctor's visits and blood work can range from $80 a month to $1,500 a year. This may be mitigated by insurance.

Gender Confirming Surgeries: Top surgery can cost between $10,000 and $15,000. Bottom surgery can cost around $30,000 for trans feminine people and $60,000 for trans masculine people depending on the procedure. Facial feminization surgery can cost up $40,000. Other gender confirming surgeries may include hysterectomies, nose jobs, or liposuction. Some of these surgeries are covered or partially covered by insurance, but many are not.

Hidden Costs of transition & Calculating Transition Costs

Health Care

INSURANCE SCAMS OR MISINFORMATION

Insurance companies will mislead a trans person to think that surgery will be covered but add additional fees post-surgery.

LACK OF GENDER AFFIRMING CARE

Some insurance companies will not cover transgender care, particularly in conservative states that have passed legislation regulating gender affirming care.

SUBPAR MEDICAL CARE

Transgender people have often been dismissed or do not have access to good or consistent medical care.

INABILITY TO CHANGE GENDER MARKER ON INSURANCE POLICIES

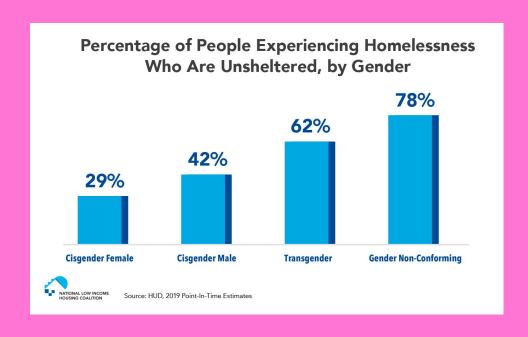

Under some policies, Trans people will be unable to access important care if they change the gender marker with their insurance.

MENTAL ILLNESS/SUICIDE

At least 82% of people who are TGNC have thought about or attempted suicide. Transgender people also have a high risk of involuntary detainment.

Legal & Safety Issues

- Unemployment Rates
- Lack of Jobs
- Dangers of Sex Work
- Discrimination
- Exclusion from Shelters
- Prison inequity
- Homelessness
- Criminalization of Trans Bodies

Anti-Trans Violence

Active transphobia and calls for violence against trans people exist both online and in real life and this has consequences:

- Transgender people face much higher rates of intimate partner violence compared to cisgender people.
- Violence disproportionately affects transgender women of color, particularly Black transgender women.
- Last year around the world, 375 trans and gender-diverse people were reported killed.
- In 2023, we have already seen the death of at least 17 members of this community.

Gender Identity & Age

"But my kid is too young to know they're transgender! This is such a big life decision and I don't think they're old enough to make it." Affirming care is supported by every major medical organization including:

- The American Medical Association
- The American Academy of Pediatrics, &
- The American Psychiatric Association

Not True! Studies show that gender identity develops around the age of 3-5 years old.

For most youth under the age of 18, "gender affirming healthcare" means Hormone Blockers, binders, and shifts in gender presentation. While studies show that it is incredibly rare for transgender people to detransition, all of these things are ultimately reversible. Doctors overwhelmingly agree that transgender healthcare is lifesaving.

States like Florida, Alabama, and Texas are all attempting to ban ANY form of gender affirming healthcare for minors (and some for adults as well!)

More Information & Resources & The Truth About Gender Affirming Healthcare

Transgender Children in Sports

In 2021, at least 70 anti-trans sports bills were proposed in more than half of the U.S. states. Most of the bills targeted trans girls, with the aim of banning trans girls from competing in girls' sport.

What about hormone levels? In most professional and collegiate level sports, hormones are highly regulated. Whether taking estrogen or testosterone, athletes are tested multiple times a season to make sure their hormones are in line with cisgender athelets. In many cases, these anti-trans bills affect children under the age of 10 - when those assigned male at birth and those assigned female have almost no difference in hormone level.

Accusations around body size are often misogynistic and racist in addition to being transphobic. Black women (cisgender and transgender) are overwhelmingly the center of these conversations. Biological diversity is common in all people, and both transgender women and cisgender women are affected by this type of transphobia.

In order to exclude transgender women and girls from participating in women's sports, there must be method of examination. This would mean that girls (trans and cis) will be forced to undergo genital exams, genotyping, and hormone evaluations. Not only is this incredibly invasive, but degrading and inappropriate.

Anti-LGBT Hostility & Homophobia

Within the last year, legislation known as "Don't Say Gay" bills have been brought to sessions all over the United States. Some have even passed in states like Florida and Alabama. These bills effectively criminalize teachers, educators, and federal workers from engaging in any content that has to do with sex, sexuality, and gender around children. It would also require them to out children who have confided in them.

Within the last few weeks, a nation bill called "Stop the Sexualization of Children Act," would do similar damage on a national scale.

In Texas, Florida, and many other states, politicians have labeled gay and transgender people as "groomers" and pedophiles in order to create unrest. Unfortunately, The Republican party has made anti-transgender legislation a main tennant of their political campaigns in order to attract religious and evangelical constituents.

Gender Pronouns

ze	hir	hirs	zhee, here, heres
ze	zir	zirs	zhee, here, heres zhee, zhere, zheres zhee, zhem, zheres
xe	xem	xyrs	zhee, zhem, zheres

Types of Pronouns

STATIC:

I use she/her/hers. My pronouns are they/them. I only use he/him pronouns.

NON-STATIC/ROLLING/MULTIPLE PRONOUNS:

I use any pronouns, but today I am using he/him. I use both she/her and they/them interchangeably. I use all pronouns but please only use he/him around my parents.

NEOPRONOUNS:

ze/zir/zirs Ze left zir backpack at my house. Are ze going by the party by zirself?

ze/hir/hirs Ze just got married, hir new wife is named Melissa.

ae/aer/aers Ae came over earlier to talk about aer relationship issues.

fae/faer/faers That shirt is faers, fae let me borrow it for the weekend

How to Use Non-static/Rolling Pronouns

- People can use gender nonconforming pronouns without being trans or nonbinary just like cisgender people can be gender nonconforming and still identify as cis.
- Many gender expansive people use multiple pronouns to reflect a multifaceted gender identity.
- Some people who use multiple pronouns do it because they are not fully out in certain spaces or are still testing out pronouns to see which fit best.
- When talking about most people who use multiple pronouns, you can use either pronoun interchangeably. Some individuals may request the use of certain pronouns in certain spaces.

Gender Neutral Language

- Refer to your cast with gender-neutral language such as "Folks" vs. "Ladies and Gentleman"
- For dancers or ensemble groups, the terms could be "leads and follows" or "As and Bs"
- Character groups can be changed from things like "Little Girls" to "Annie's Friends," etc.
- Reference specific voice parts instead of "men's voices" or "women's voices"
- When you are speaking to an audience or audience members, terms like folks, y'all, friends, or everyone can be used instead of ladies and gentleman.
- Ultimately, degendering language is a learning process and common sense will help guide when to use degendered language.

Tropes to Avoid

- Unstable trans character: the character is unable to function without drugs, alcohol, etc because of the weight of their trans identity
- "The Trap": the character is revealed to be trans in a shocking twist that upsets the cis characters
- Cisgender man playing dress up: A man puts on a dress as a joke (see Tootsie, Mrs. Doubtfire, etc)
- Trans martyr: the trans character is the hero and is seen as "brave" for just existing
- Kill your queers: the trans character dies
- What about the family: this story de-centers trans identity and tells the narrative through cisgender eyes (a mother telling a story about her trans child where the child is not actually in the play)
- Trans voyeurism/Trans nude shot: a trans person's body is fetishized or is seen as shocking/taboo
- Cis passing: the trans person's only goal is to pass as a cisgender person
- Trans tokenism: there is one trans person and their story centers around their trans identity

Making Accessible Facilities

Bathrooms

Dressing Rooms

Questions you can ask your team:

- Do your dressing rooms need to be gendered? Why?
- Are you able to create an all gender dressing room with privacy stalls?
- If your dressing room situation is tradition or limited by location, have a conversation with your actors about their comfort level and let them opt in to which room they feel most comfortable in.
- If you are an equity house, you get ask for a concession to change the dressing room situation!

Dressing Rooms

Questions you can ask your cast:

- Is there anyone you would particularly like to share a dressing room with?
- Is there anyone you wouldn't like to share a dressing room with?
- Do you prefer a quiet/focused dressing room, or a loud/high energy dressing room?
- Do you prefer a dressing room with a lot of other actors, or just a couple?
- Is there anything else you would like me to know?

Production

Marketing

When working with trans and nonbinary actors, it is important to help support them offstage as well. Make sure that you take steps to set your actors up for success by opening up a discussion with the marketing team.

- Check in with your trans artists about how they want to be discussed (double checking pronoun and term usage, such as transmasculine vs. trans man,
 Two Spirit specific terms etc.)
- Be careful with tokenization and harmful imagery. If possible, have a paid trans consultant review your marketing materials.
- Create a "cheat-sheet" for press and reviewers that you can include in the press packet.
- Add pronouns to bios in programs and on websites.

Costumes, Hair, & Makeup

- Have a conversation with your costume, hair, and makeup designers to discuss character gender presentation.
- If possible, involve your trans actors in the conversation about their costumes as they are developed. Discuss character gender presentation and identity. Ask the actor what they are personally comfortable wearing.
- Be prepared to change or shift a design based on gender-related discoveries in the rehearsal room.
- For many trans people, fittings can range from uncomfortable to triggering, so understand that kindness and flexibility are essential. Check in with your actor and see if they want an advocate in the room with them. This could be your production's gender consultant, another actor or artist, or a friend.
